www.tntextbooks.in

A new estimate of biodiversity on Earth (2017)

Wilson (1992)

A traditional estimate of the relative richness of different groups of organisms based on numbers of described species.

Mora et al (2011)

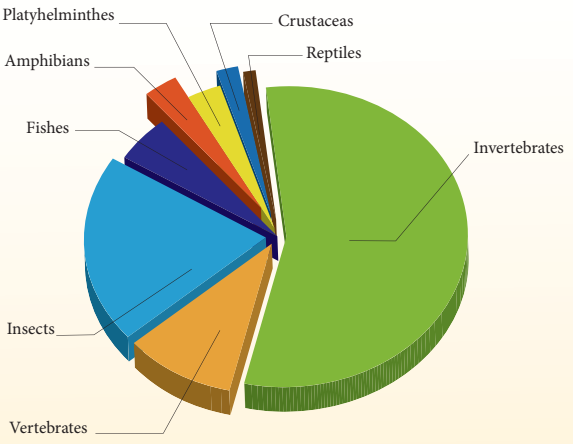

An estimate based on projected richness of different groups of organisms.

Brenden et al (2017)

An estimate based on the projected richness of different groups of organisms.

Animals Fungi Plants Protists Bacteria

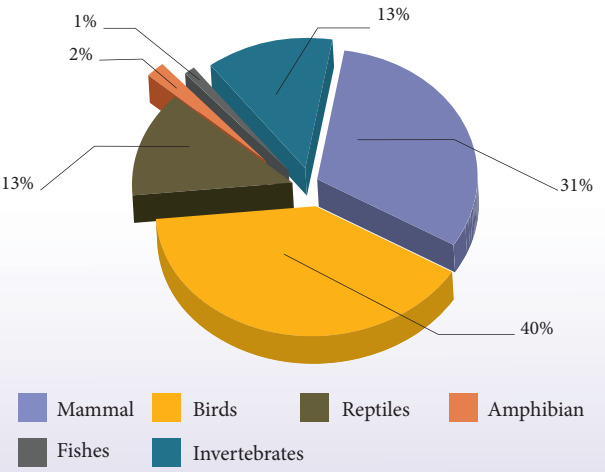

Newly Discovered Species in India (2016)

New Species Discovered in India (2016)

Of the new animal species discovered in India, 258 are invertebrates and 55 vertebrates. As many as 97 species of insects, 27 of fishes, 12 species of amphibians, 10 of Platyhelminthes, 9 of Crustacea and 6 of reptiles have been discovered and described by scientists. There are 61 species of moths and butterflies (order Lepidoptera) and 38 of beetles (Coleoptera).

Threatened Species in India

According to IUCN, 172 species of animals are considered globally threatened in India or 2.9% of the world's total number of threatened species.

These include 53 species of mammals, 69 birds, 23 reptiles and 3 amphibians, 2 fishes and 22 invertebrates.