A. Based on the functions of banks

1. Central Bank – Refer to Chapter 10

2. Commercial Banks

Banks which accept deposits from the public and grant loans to traders, individuals, agriculture, industries, transport, etc. in order to earn profit. Their lending is in comparatively small amounts and mostly for short and medium period. They also provide other services like remittance of funds, safe keeping of valuables, collection of cheques, s, issue of letters of credit, etc. They operate with a head office and a network of branch offices spread throughout the country. They also issue guarantees to businessmen. When a businessman or industrialist buy machinery on credit or apply for a big contract bank guarantees that in case the customer fails the bank will make the payment.

Examples:

i. State Bank of India
ii. Karur Vysa Bank
iii. Standard Chartered Bank

3. Development Banks

Huge finance required for investment, expansion and modernisation of big industries and others are granted by a separate type of banks called development Banks. They are also called industrial banks. The objective of development banks is not profit. Their aim is to develop the country and create employment opportunities. Finance is provided by them for medium and long terms ranging from five to twenty years. Development banks do not accept
