16.03 LOGISTICS

A. Meaning

Logistics can be viewed as a logical extension of transportation and related areas to achieve an efficient and effective goods distribution system.

Logistics Management is defined as 'Design and operation of the physical, managerial, and informational systems needed to allow goods to overcome time and space (from the producer to the consumer)'. This implies that an integrated view of a number of different activities and functions may be required. These activities are represented as part of the value chain, called the generic value chain by Porter. All firms are viewed as a collection of primary and secondary activities.

B. Decisions

The logistics management involves various decisions that need examination for an integrated system, they are:
