www.tntextbooks.in

The exchange energy is the basis for Hund's rule, which allows maximum multiplicity, that is electron pairing is possible only when all the degenerate orbitals contain one electron each.

Evaluate Yourself

8. Which has the stable electronic configuration? Ni^{2+} or Fe^{3+}.