Multiple interpretations of a text exist and therefore Derrida suggests deconstructing the meanings of the text.

What is Deconstruction?

Explained as a strategy "Rules for reading, interpretation and writing."

Jacques Derrida

Postmodernism opposes the universalism of modernity. In contrast it supports Particularism. It argues that the parts are more important than the whole. For example, modernity pays attention to universal theory of rights or welfare. Post- modernism focuses on the rights of particular social groups like women, tribal and the like, who are less privileged. Modernity devotes attention to systemic change but Postmodernism focuses on emancipating or changing the condition of specific social groups.

Identity politics is interlinked with post - modernism. Identity Politics refers to the activities of specific social groups, usually the weak, vulnerable and under-privileged communities who organise themselves under the banner of their own caste, race, and gender to resist domination of other groups over them. The members of these groups call themselves 'we' and oppose the activities of others, 'they'. Postmodernism and Identity Politics promote the empowerment of local, specific communities.

Postmodernism has been criticised by many thinkers and scholars. In fact, Alan Kirby, a British cultural critic, said Postmodernism is dead as its cultural period is over and the world has entered digi-modernism or the Era of Digital Modernism.

9.5 Environmentalism

The advent of modern science and technology driven development had devastated the planet's environment precipitating several ecological crises like ozone depletion, climate change and acid rain. Environmentalism arose as a protest movement and ideology against the perilous destruction of the earth. We have only one habitable planet in the entire universe and there is no alternative home and therefore protecting the environment assumes paramount significance

There exists a profound debate in philosophy about the relationship between man and ecology, development
